Gala Charity Ball

Main Line annual spring event

To be held Friday at Overbrook Golf Club

By KATHERINE DUNLAP Society Editor

As sure a sign of the season as the robin and the crocus is the announcement that the Main Line Charity Ball is ready for the staging.

This year's gala is set for Friday at Overbrook Golf Club and, as usual, there is a bright round of gaiety and entertainment ready for the guests.

EMPHASIS ON YOUTH

As usual, too, there is an emphasis on youth in the proceedings and members of the Main Line's debutante set are working to promote interest in the event and will serve as aides the evening of the ball.

The group includes Miss Susan Foster Apple, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Apple, of Wayne; Miss Marion L. McGlenn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis C. P. McGlenn, of Haverford; Miss Sheila W. Reath, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. Panoast Reath, of Stratford.

RED CROSS AIDED

Also Miss Jane G. Knowles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Knowles, Jr., of Berwyn; Miss Phyllis Hall McPherson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. McPherson, and Miss Judson Scribner Cartensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hans L. Carstensen, of Radnor, and Miss Ruth Thayer Babcock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Kent Babcock, Jr., of Wynnewood.

Douglas D. Royal, of Wayne, is chairman of the management committee for the ball, the 14th annual gala sponsored by local residents for charitable purposes. This year's proceeds will go to the Camp and Hospital Committee of the Wayne Branch of American Red Cross.

HOSPITAL PARTIES

This group of women works throughout the year providing many extras for veterans in local government hospitals and brightening the dull days of hospital routine with parties and entertainments. The committee works through the American Red Cross but it finances its own entire program. The charity ball is one of the largest of the galas in which Main Line residents cooperate.

Dancing is set to start at 9 P. M. but the festivities of the evening will be under way long before that time at the many dinner parties that are planned.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Montgomery Forster are entertaining at dinner before the ball in honor of Col. and Mrs. Henry S. Murphey and Col. and Mrs. Paul V. Kiehl of the Valley Forge Army Hospital. Col. Murphey is commanding officer of the Hospital.

Others entertaining are Mr. and Mrs. Ricardo Z. Zimmerman, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Radcliffe, Mr. and Mrs. Hilbert F. Keisker, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard V. Rowlands, Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Ewing, Mr. and Mrs. Frank K. Muller, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Hutton, Mr. and Mrs. George G. Jellies, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence G. Harding, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Hildebrandt, Dr. James S. Greytak, Mr. and Mrs. H. Earl Borzell, Cmdr. and Mrs. Scott G. Lamb and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Freeman.

A midnight supper will be served at the ball. Bill Davies and his orchestra will provide music for dancing.

Among the Main Line residents aiding in planning the event are Lt. Gen. Milton G. Baker, Irvin R. Barton, Jr., Mrs. Benjamin S. Beall, 3d, Mrs. E. V. Blake, Mr. and Mrs. J. Montgomery Forster, Mrs.

John H. Foster, Mr. and Mrs. J. Herbert Glenn, Mrs. W. Scott Johns, 3d, Mrs. Charles F. Littlepage, R. Alexander Montgomery, John G. Pew, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Radcliffe, Adolph Rosengarten, Jr., Leighton P. Stradley, Jr., and Mrs. John Whiting.

OTHERS ASSISTING

Also, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Walton, Jr.; William Coxe Wright, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Wroth, Frank W. Weightman, Mrs. Adolph G. Rosengarten, William Plummer, Jr., Richard S. Krick, Arthur Horton, Mrs. Theodore A. Greifzu, William Beeson, Mrs. E. V. Blake and Mr. and Mrs. David R. Bagentose.

The charity ball is sponsored by the Main Line Lions Club. Dr. James J. Greytak and Eliseo J. DeJoseph are chairmen of the publicity committee.

League to sponsor American version Of Passion Play

Philadelphia has a premier performance listed this week that is right in keeping with the season. It is the American version of the Oberammergau Passion Play at the Arena. Tuesday night sponsored by the Junior League of Philadelphia.

As usual when big events are on the schedule, the young women are found to be raising money for welfare or community purposes. At the same time they are managing double return on their efforts by combining social get-togethers with the project at hand.

DOZENS OF DINNERS

This is the case Tuesday. The League is sponsoring the premiere. It is raising money for its latest community service "baby," Wheels for Welfare, and members are planning dozens of dinner parties to precede the performance.

Mrs. Reeves Bunting, of Haverford, is chairman of the benefit. As usual, the Buntings are right up in front when it comes to entertaining their friends and they have issued invitations to a dinner that evening.

BUSY WITH PLANS

Working with Mrs. Bunting on the promotion for the play and also busy with arrangements for entertaining are Mrs. Thomas C. Borthwick, Mrs. J. Mahlon Buck, Jr., Mrs. Robert G. Calder, Jr., Mrs. Edward W. Coslett, Jr., president of the League; Mrs. LeCompte K. Davis, chairman of the Wheels for Welfare; Mrs. Robert M. Elder, Mrs. David A. Fowler, Miss Ellen M. Gow, Mrs. Harold A. Haines, Jr., Mrs. Herbert J. Lee, Jr., Mrs. Paul W. Seiler, Mrs. Charles A. Slater, Jr., Mrs. John H. Stephens and Mrs. George R. Winner.

To the League members and their families the play has meant something more than a sponsored performance. As all who are familiar with the historic drama know, there are crowded community groups. In these "mob" scenes there will be quite a number of League members, their friends and their families serving as apprentice actors. Of interest in

The International Set A Caracas romance

By HOLLY KNICKERBOCKER

NEW YORK, April 1.—Mimi and Reynaldo Herrera's son, Rinaldo, has always appeared to be the family offspring most likely to hop on the marriage-go-round. But it's their charming daughter, Carolina, whose engagement to Roberto Picon Parra has now been announced in Caracas.

The wedding between Carolina and "Tico," who is a member of a prominent Venezuelan family, will take place in Caracas early this summer. Because the wealthy Herreras are International Set, the nuptials such stellar members of The should attract visitors from far and wide.

Marion Hill Preminger has pulled quite a romantic coup. She's been away for eight months, and, on her return to New York, friends find that she is now Mrs. Albert Mayer, the brand-new wife of an extremely rich and well-known philanthropist. Marion, ex-wife of producer Otto Preminger, is the most-decorated woman in America and has often been rumored on the verge of a merger with Prince Vladimir Romanoff. She flew over the Pole to the West Coast and wed Mr. Mayer in Nevada only a few days ago.

Her new philanthropist husband doubtless will approve of Marion's annual pilgrimages to Dr. Albert Schweitzer's leper colony in Lambereene.

MARRIAGE IS IN

Marriage is definitely in the cards for Cary Latimer, the ex-Mrs. William Wright, Jr., and horse trainer Burnett Robinson, ex of Texas heiress Josephine Abercrombie. . . Nicholas and Dolly Goulandris are spending the Easter holidays in Greece. . . Prince Alexander of Yugoslavia and his wife, Maria Pia, daughter of Italy's ex-king, are busy denying French newspaper rumors that all's not well with their marriage.

Palm Beach Bits. Popular Gus Ranville entered the hospital in this resort town yesterday for surgery. . . Construction tycoon Ian Woodner is still building dream castles over pretty Dodi Marshall. They're in Palm Beach together.

JAMAICA VISITOR

Vivien Leigh will go to spend Easter with Noel Coward in Jamaica, which, as they say in the ads, is no place like home. . . Madison Avenue's Monede Gallery is showing the works of young Spanish painter Senen Ubina, while another exhibition of his paintings of oil and steel is showing in Toronto. He's the fellow the Madrid art critics dote on. . . Night-line at Charles V. "He should get an Oscar for best supporting actor. He pays more alimony than anybody!" . . . Italy's greatest living mandolinist, Giuseppe Anedda, set Carnegie Hall a-zinging recently with a really sensational performance, under the auspices of the Italian Cultural Institute.

HOUSE-TO-HOUSE DRIVE

The drive will start with a house-to-house request for funds starting April 15 and continuing for a month. Daisy Days are set for May 4, 5 and 6.

Mrs. John A. Rose and Mrs. George Reath are co-chairmen of the fund drive on a neighborhood basis. Mrs. Joseph Daroff and Mrs. David Shulman are centering efforts in a campaign in the apartment houses. Mrs.

LEAVES HOSPITAL

Her friends will be glad to hear that Adelaide Moffet Douglas, former society singer now wed to Newport's J. Gordon Douglas, is out of Roosevelt Hospital and back in her Rhode Island home. . . Night-line at the Pen and Pencil: "She's happy that her husband is so dumb. If he were smarter she'd be an old maid!" . . . Is writer Hallam Keep Williams going to ask his onetime wife, glamor girl Josie Johnson, to re-register their son, Turner, in school under his own name? Since Josie's marital split-up from

Service League Features fashion And song at party

No need for rose-colored glasses when members and guests of the League for Service gather at the Philadelphia Cricket Club on April 26.

The organization has planned a party in connection with the Main Street Fair, and the decorative scheme will carry out the new fashion shade of the season. In addition, according to Mrs. Gordon H. Chambers and Mrs. J. Nelson Galbraith, the co-chairmen, the entertainment will match the shade in its bright and colorful quality.

Bridge, fashion and song will be the order of the afternoon. There will be dozens of attractive prizes. Dorothy R. Bullitt will present the fashion feature, and a group from the Savoy Opera Company will offer a preview of its 1961 Gilbert and Sullivan production, "Patience."

MC SELECTED

Adding another touch of traditional Philadelphia music and song will be John S. Williams, a member of the Orpheus Club, who also will serve as master of ceremonies.

The party is planned as a pre-fete event for the Main Street Fair, which raises funds each year for the Chestnut Hill Hospital. The entire Chestnut Hill community supports the giant fair, staged in the fall, and aids in the success of the colorful forerunner parties, too.

The artist, Pearl Van Sciver, for instance, has donated one of her paintings as a gift to be awarded April 28, and merchants and friends of the hospital have given jewelry, accessories and gourmet items.

Another feature will be the

Virginia Catherwood Will become bride Of William P. Gresh

Mr. and Mrs. Cummins Catherwood, of "Sumatanga," Haverford, announce the engagement of Mr. Catherwood's daughter, Miss Virginia Tucker Catherwood, to Mr. William Perry Gresh, son of Mr. P. Heim Gresh, of Bryn Mawr, and the late Mrs. Gresh.

Miss Catherwood, daughter also of Mrs. Kent Catherwood, of Tucson, Ariz., is a granddaughter of Mrs. A. Atwater Kent, of Newtown Square. She attended the Agnes Irwin School and was graduated from the Foxcroft School.

The prospective bride made her debut in 1956 at a tea and also was feted at a ball at the Bellevue-Stratford given by Mr. and Mrs. Catherwood.

Mr. Gresh, an alumnus of Haverford School and Dartmouth College, served three years with the Navy.

BRACE-CRAWFORD

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Crawford, Jr., of Pennington, N.J., of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Jean Newcombe Crawford, to Mr. Russell Wing Brace, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger W. Brace, of Belfast, Me.

Miss Crawford was graduated from Miss Fine's School, Princeton, and Wellesley College, Class of 1959. She is a graduate student at Brown University.

Mr. Brace, an alumnus of Hebron Academy and Dartmouth College, Class of 1956, served as an officer with the United States Air Force. A July wedding is planned.

Women's groups Plan 'Daisy Days' To aid hospital

Members of the women's groups working as volunteers for Children's Hospital of Philadelphia are busy these days with plans for the annual appeal for funds centered around the city's "Daisy Days." Mrs. John W. Hope, of Germantown, is chairman.

Mrs. John Porter Scott, of Merion, and Mrs. Vernon Wright, of Mt. Airy, are co-chairmen of a committee planning a recruitment campaign to enlist a volunteer sales force in the distribution of the tiny boutonnières.

AID FOR CHILDREN

The flowers bear the lines: "Help a child return to play. Wear a Daisy on Daisy Day." "And that is exactly what the funds do," say the chairmen. "The money is used to help pay for the care of infants and children whose parents cannot finance the cost of hospitalization."

The appeal will be made through Philadelphia and three neighboring counties. Members of the hospital's Women's Committee, the Junior Auxiliary and the Chop Shop Committee are combining efforts in its support.

HOUSE-TO-HOUSE DRIVE

The drive will start with a house-to-house request for funds starting April 15 and continuing for a month. Daisy Days are set for May 4, 5 and 6.
